Where creative meets web

Founded in 2011 in Craiova, Romania, Octagram is the agency where creative thinking meets skillful web programming.

We are a team of talented programmers and web designers capable of developing useful and modern web experiences using the latest technologies.

We build strong partnerships

Over the years Octagram has proved to be a reliable partner to all its clients. Our goal is to turn each collaboration into a long-term partnership by offering quality services and excellent communication.

“I have worked with Octagram for a few years now and have always been provided with high-quality display campaign assets. The agency is accountable for its creative thinking, expertise and positive can-do attitude.”

How can we work together?

We believe we can bring value to any business in various forms. These are just a few collaboration models we propose:

1. Manage your company's online presence

We can build or revitalize your company's online presence by developing a complete online identity.

2. Partner as an external developer

Whether you are an agency or a company with no internal development team, Octagram is the ideal partner. Our prompt response time and excellent technical support will make it seem like we are in the same office as you.

3. Creative support for your marketing team

Every marketing department needs a good designer, if not an entire team of designers. Our endorsement is given by the long-term collaborations with globally known brands.

4. Set up a dedicated team of developers

We are based in Craiova, a Romanian city with a strong IT background. This allows us to recruit experienced programmers and build a dedicated team for your company.
